About Chesterfield

With friendly and welcoming communities, the renowned market town of Chesterfield is the ideal place to live, work and play.

The stunning countryside of the Peak District National Park is on the doorstep of Waterside but closer still is the town centre which is within easy walking distance and well connected by cycle paths.

A beautifully structured town centre that is pedestrian friendly and includes the iconic Crooked Spire of St. Mary and All Saints Church, Chesterfield has much to offer.

Boasting one of the country's oldest and largest outdoor markets, dating back to 1204, the town of Chesterfield offers a thriving retail scene characterised by a string mix of independent and high street retailers alongside a market hall. The town's market square also regularly plays host to events and festivals.

A lively evening economy promises something for everyone – from a plethora of restaurants, pubs and bars to shows at the Pomegranate Theatre, Winding Wheel or the multiplex cinema.

Minutes from the town centre the beautiful Queen's Park offers a traditional day out for the family alongside the opportunity to watch the professional cricketers of Derbyshire or take a 15 minute journey to enjoy the delights of Chatsworth House, the majestic 'Palace of the Peak' and the Elizabethan splendour of Hardwick Hall.

“ Chesterfield offers a town lifestyle set on the edge of the glorious Peak District, a great outdoor leisure experience, local independent retailers, high street names and is a place where history, heritage and modernity go hand-in-hand. ”
